

Parenting With a Plan and a Purpose

Want to parent with a plan and a purpose?

Want to know how to parent the adults you want your children to become?

10 questions to ask yourself every morning as you pull back the covers of your morning and start your mom journey for the day:

1. How can I parent my children today that will point them to a relationship with Jesus Christ?
2. What character traits can I work on developing in my children today?
3. What struggles are they having that I can help them learn to overcome?
4. What can I do to help them see the need to care for others?
5. How can I teach them to serve their family and their community?
6. How can I teach them to submit to authority today?
7. What have I done today to instill a deep prayer life in my children?
8. What bad habits or character flaws do I need to help them deal with today?
9. What do I want them to ultimately learn as a result of the circumstances they are in?
10. What example am I demonstrating to them that will strengthen their resolve to become men and women of God?
